Individual Notes:

Madiera red is confident and self-assured after a little time to adjust into a new situation. She shows little to no stress around new people, in new circumstances, or situations that would typically be considered stressful. She is curious and investigative with new sights and sounds, including those that would typically be considered startling. She is socially appropriate in her interactions with litter mates, cats, other dogs, and with people. She rarely uses her mouth to initiate or engage in interaction. When she does, she has excellent bite inhibition. She is rarely vocal. She has a good memory, focus, and problem-solving abilities average to her age and stage of development. She also has good motivations for interaction, food, and toys at fairly equal and balanced levels. She is comfortable and tolerant of handling and restraint. The Madiera litter overall have no red flags and show no possessiveness. These puppies are very consistent with very few differences between them. They all have mid to moderate energy. They are bubbly, happy, social, and eager. They are also personable and engaging. They are well balanced and should adapt well in most any home.
