Individual Notes:

The Caroline litter is a little immature, but this does not affect the results. Caroline White is confident and self-assured. After having a little time to adjust in new situations, she shows little to no stress in new situations, around new people or in circumstances that would normally be considered stressful. She is curious and investigative with new sights and sounds, including those that would be considered startling. She has mid-level energy. She is happy, bubbly, and social. She is personable, affectionate, playful, and curious. She has good memory, focus, and problem-solving abilities above average for her age and stage of development. She is motivated for interaction, food, and toys at fairly equal and balanced levels. She is comfortable and tolerant of handling and restraint. She is also gentle and respectful with handling and interaction. She is socially appropriate in her interactions with her littermates, other dogs, cats, and people. She is rarely vocal and rarely uses her mouth to initiate or engage in play, but when she does, she has excellent bite inhibition. She has no red flags in her personality and shows no possessiveness. These puppies are very consistent with very few differences between them. They should do well in most any home.
