Individual Notes:

Athena orange is confident and self-assured. He shows little to no stress in new situations, around new people, and in circumstances that are typically considered stressful. He is curious and investigative with new sites and sounds, including those that should be considered startling. He has a good memory, focus, and problem-solving abilities above average levels for his age and stage of development. He has excellent motivations for interaction and food. He has good motivations for choice. He is socially appropriate in his interactions with litter mates, cats, and with other dogs. He is also socially appropriate in his interactions with people. He is exceptionally gentle. He rarely uses his mouth and has very good bite inhibition if he does. He is rarely vocal. The litter overall have no red flags and show no possessiveness. They are all comfortable and tolerant of handling and restraint. These puppies are very consistent with very few differences between them. They all have mid-level energy. They are content to explore and play on their own while still being very personable and engaging. They are curious, social, happy, and eager. These puppies are very well balanced and should adapt well in to most any home. These puppies are very gentle for their size. They are very sweet and cuddly. They have excellent potential for therapy work.

Health notes:

Orange had abscess at microchip site and it is now healing.
