Individual Notes:

Athena red is confident and self-assured. She shows little to no stress in new situations, around new people, and in circumstances that are typically considered stressful. She is curious and investigative with new sites and sounds, including those that should be considered startling. She has a good memory, focus, and problem-solving abilities above average levels for her age and stage of development. She has excellent motivations for interaction and food. She has good motivations for choice. She is socially appropriate in her interactions with litter mates, cats, and with other dogs. She is also socially appropriate in her interactions with people. She is exceptionally gentle. She rarely uses her mouth and has very good bite inhibition if she does. She is rarely vocal. The litter overall have no red flags and show no possessiveness. They are all comfortable and tolerant of handling and restraint. These puppies are very consistent with very few differences between them. They all have mid-level energy. They are content to explore and play on their own while still being very personable and engaging. They are curious, social, happy, and eager. These puppies are very well balanced and should adapt well in to most any home. These puppies are very gentle for their size. They are very sweet and cuddly. They have excellent potential for therapy work.

Health notes:

Red has an umbilical hernia.
