Individual Notes:

Harlem pink is confident and self-assured, after a little time to adjust into a new situation. She show a little stress in new situations, around new people, or in circumstances that are typically considered stressful, but adjust very well and on her own. She is curious and investigate with new sites and sounds, including those that should be considered startling. She has a good memory, focus, and problem solving abilities average to her age and stage of development. She also has excellent motivations for interaction and good interest in food and toys. She is socially appropriate in her interactions with litter mates, cats and with other dogs. She is also socially appropriate in her interactions with people. The litter overall have no red flags and show no possessiveness. They are rarely vocal. They rarely use their mouth to initiate or engage in play and has excellent bite inhibition when they do. These puppies are very consistent with very few differences between them. They both have mid-level energy. When comparing them side-by-side, pink is a little more cuddly and affectionate. She is very gentle and respectful. Both puppies are gentle with handling and interaction. They are very personable and engaging while still being content to explore and play on their own. They are playful, curious, social and happy. These puppies are well balanced, and should adapt well into most any home.
