7 Wk: Individual Notes:

The Charity litter overall is confident and self-assured. Red and Red Dot are a little immature compared to the rest of the litter, but it does not affect the results of this test. Overall these puppies show little to no stress in new situations, around new people, or in circumstances typically considered stressful. They are curious and investigative with new sites and sounds including those that should be considered startling. These puppies have very good focus, memory, and problem-solving abilities above average for their age and stage of development. They also have excellent motivations for interaction, food, and toys at fairly equal balance levels. These are appropriate in their interactions with one another, with cats, and with other dogs. They are also socially appropriate in their interactions with people. They are rarely vocal. They rarely use their mouth to initiate or engage and play, they have excellent bite inhibition if they do. Pink, Blue, and Pink can be a little wiggly with interaction due to excitement. They have no red flags and no possessiveness. Blue has moderate energy. These puppies overall are very curious, playful, social, and happy. These puppies also personable and affectionate, they are eager and engaging. These puppies are well balanced, and have good potential for therapy work. They will do well in most any home, but we do best in a home that is going to be interactive with them
