Individual Notes:

The Sage litter overall is very confident and self-assured. They show no stress in new situations around new people, or in circumstances typically considered stressful. These puppies are curious and investigative with new sites and sounds, including those that should be considered startling. These puppies have excellent memory, focus, and problem-solving abilities, well above average for their age and stage of development. These puppies have very good motivation for food and toys and excellent motivation for interaction. These puppies are socially appropriate in their interactions with one another, with cats, and with other dogs. They are also socially appropriate in their interactions with people. They are rarely vocal. They use their mouth to initiate and engage and play, but have very good bite inhibition. These puppies are all comfortable and tolerant of handling and restraint. They have no red flags and show no possessiveness. They are very consistent with very subtle differences between individuals. They all have mid to moderate energy. These puppies are very personable and engaging, and would prefer to be with an around people than being on their own. They have very good potential for therapy work, especially red. These puppies are playful, curious, social and happy. They are adaptable. They are eager and affectionate, they are well balanced, and will do best in a home that is going to be interactive with them.
