- Chanel Males Litter Overview

The Chanel males are a charming trio, each with distinct personalities that balance independence with affection. They are playful, content, and adaptable, making them ideal for various home environments. With mid-level energy, they bring a great mix of playful moments and relaxed downtime. Each puppy is gentle with handling and not overly needy, allowing them to transition smoothly into new homes. Their intelligence and curiosity make them excellent candidates for training, and one of the boys even shows potential for therapy or emotional support work. Overall, these boys are well-rounded and show no red flags, making them great companions.

- Chanel Blue

- Energy Level: Mid-level
- Temperament: Chanel Blue has a well-balanced, middle-of-the-road temperament. He's content doing his own thing but stays close by, never being too pushy or needy. He enjoys affection and attention but doesn't require it constantly. His energy level is perfect for those seeking a puppy who can play but isn't overwhelming. He brings a pleasant balance of playful puppy antics and calm contentment. No red flags, and he's sure to be a fantastic companion.

- Chanel Green

- POTENTIAL THERAPY OR EMOTIONAL SUPPORT CANDIDATE

- Breeder's Pick, Enrolled into 16-Week Prep School Program

- Energy Level: Mid-level

- Temperament: Chanel Green is a smart, curious puppy who works to get what he wants. He quickly assesses situations and figures things out, making him fun to train. He loves attention and affection, and his interactions are sweet and gentle. With great focus and a calm, mannerly disposition, he's happiest when snuggled in your lap for head scratches. He's not fearful, shows no red flags, and could be a strong candidate for therapy or emotional support roles.

- Chanel Orange

- Energy Level: Mid-level
- Temperament: Chanel Orange is a funny and independent puppy who plays a bit of hard to get but still enjoys special attention. He's not overly needy but matches your energy when it's time to engage. He enjoys noise, toys, and movement, showing his self-assured and confident nature. Although he may give you the side-eye when he's had enough affection, he often comes back for more on his terms. He's content, confident, and should transition easily into his new home. No red flags.
