Ruth Litter Overview:

The Ruth litter is a sweet and affectionate group of puppies who take a little time to warm up to new environments. Once comfortable, they are eager to explore, play, and connect. These puppies are highly people-oriented and thrive on interaction and connection. While they are naturally curious and investigative, they are still slightly immature and use their mouths to explore their surroundings. Green stands out as being slightly more independent than his siblings. With their mid to moderate energy levels, leaning closer to moderate, this litter would make wonderful service or therapy candidates. Their balanced temperaments make them adaptable to a variety of home types.
