Marnie Girls Temperament Overview:

The Marnie litter is overall very confident and self-assured. These puppies show no signs of stress in new situations, around unfamiliar people, or in environments typically considered stressful. They react appropriately to new sights and sounds, including those that would typically be considered startling, and they approach new experiences with curiosity and an investigative nature.

At this stage of development, the puppies demonstrate strong memory, focus, and problem-solving abilities that are appropriate for their age. They show excellent motivation for interaction and food, along with good interest in toys.

Socially, these puppies are appropriate in their interactions—with one another, with cats, and with other dogs. They also engage well with people. While they may occasionally use their mouths to initiate or engage in play—and at times can be a little pushy in their effort to gain or maintain attention—they have excellent bite inhibition and are easily redirected when needed.

They are rarely vocal, show no red flags, and display no signs of possessiveness. All of the puppies in this litter show excellent potential for therapy work.
