Ripley Boys Temperament Overview:

The Ripley litter is overall confident and self-assured. A couple of the puppies need a little time to adjust to new situations but do so quickly and independently. They show little to no stress in new environments, around new people, or in circumstances typically considered stressful. These puppies are socially appropriate in their interactions with one another, with cats, and with other dogs. They are also appropriate and well-mannered in their interactions with people.

They show no red flags and display no signs of possessiveness. All are comfortable with and tolerant of handling and restraint. The litter demonstrates good memory, focus, and problem-solving abilities, appropriate for their age and stage of development. They also have very good motivation for interaction and food, along with a good interest in toys. Overall, the puppies are fairly consistent, with only subtle differences between individuals.
