Michele Boys Temperament Overview:

The Michelle litter, overall, needs a little time to adjust to new situations, but they do very well once given that time. These puppies may show some stress in unfamiliar environments, around new people, or in circumstances typically considered stressful. However, they remain curious and investigative with new sights and sounds, including those that might be considered startling. Overall, these puppies have good memory, focus, and problem-solving abilities—average for their age and stage of development. They have good motivation for food, excellent motivation for interaction, and good interest in toys.

They are socially appropriate in their interactions with one another, with cats, and with other dogs. They are also socially appropriate in their interactions with people. They rarely use their mouths to initiate or engage in play, and when they do, they exhibit excellent bite inhibition. These puppies are rarely vocal. They show no red flags and no signs of possessiveness. All are comfortable and tolerant of handling and restraint. The overall impression of this litter is that, once allowed to adjust to new situations without being overwhelmed, they are well-balanced and should adapt well to most home environments.
