Tia Girls Temperament Overview:

The Tia litter overall needs a little time to adjust in new situations, occasionally showing some stress when meeting new people or in circumstances typically considered stressful. However, they adjust well on their own and tend to be quite gentle and respectful by nature. These puppies display good memory, focus, and problem-solving abilities for their age and stage of development.

They have very good motivation for interaction, along with good motivation for food and toys. They are curious and investigative with new sights and sounds, including those that might be considered startling. Socially, they are appropriate in their interactions with one another, with cats, and with other dogs. They are also socially appropriate with people unless otherwise noted. They are rarely vocal, and when they do use their mouths to initiate play, they have excellent bite inhibition.

These puppies are comfortable and tolerant of handling and restraint, with no red flags or possessiveness. Overall, they are gentle, respectful, and adaptable companions who will blossom in a patient and loving home.
