Naomi Litter Temperament Overview:

The Naomi litter is a confident and self-assured group of puppies with mid to moderate energy levels. While a couple of them may take a brief moment to adjust in new situations, they quickly settle in and respond appropriately. They are curious, investigative, and react well to new sights and sounds, including those that might typically be considered startling. Their memory, focus, and problem-solving abilities are above average for their age and stage of development.

These puppies show excellent motivation for interaction and very good motivation for food and toys, making them eager to learn and easy to engage with. They are socially appropriate in their interactions with one another, with other dogs, with cats, and with people. While they can be a little pushy in their efforts to seek or keep attention, this comes from their highly engaging and personable natures. They may also be somewhat vocal when attention seeking or during social play, but this is easily managed and redirected. When using their mouths in play, they show very good bite inhibition. All puppies are comfortable and tolerant of handling and restraint, with many actively seeking it out.

Overall, this litter is engaging, social, playful, and curious, with excellent potential for therapy or emotional support work when paired with proper training and socialization.
