Noodles Litter Temperament Overview:

The Noodles litter overall is confident and self-assured, though a couple of puppies may need a little time to adjust in new situations. While they can show mild stress when first meeting new people or facing circumstances typically considered stressful, they adjust well on their own. They are curious and investigative with new sights and sounds, even those that could be considered startling.

These puppies display good memory, focus, and problem-solving abilities that are average for their age and stage of development. They are motivated by interaction above all, but also show solid motivation for food and toys. Socially, they are appropriate in their interactions with one another, with cats, and with other dogs. They are also very well-mannered with people, rarely using their mouths to initiate play and showing excellent bite inhibition if they do. They are rarely vocal, with no red flags or signs of possessiveness.

All are comfortable and tolerant of handling and restraint, with most of them actively seeking out this kind of attention. The overall impression of the Noodles litter is that they are very sweet, social, and playful puppies who will thrive in homes that enjoy frequent interaction and bonding.
