Palmer Litter Temperament Overview:

The Palmer litter overall is confident and self-assured, though a couple of puppies may need a little time to adjust in new situations. Once settled, they show little to no stress around new people or in circumstances typically considered stressful. They react appropriately to new sights and sounds, including those that could be considered startling, and remain curious and investigative.

These puppies display good memory, focus, and problem-solving abilities that are above average for their age and stage of development. They have excellent motivation for interaction, along with good motivation for food and toys. Socially, they are appropriate in their interactions with one another, with cats, and with other dogs. They are also well-mannered in their interactions with people. While they may use their mouths to initiate or engage in play, they demonstrate good bite inhibition. They are rarely vocal, show no red flags, and do not display possessiveness.

All are comfortable and tolerant of handling and restraint, with most actively seeking out this type of interaction. This litter is fairly consistent overall, leaving an impression of being very social, personable, and engaging. These puppies should adapt well into most any home environment.

Palmer Blue

- Energy Level: Mid to Moderate
- Personality: Palmer Blue is trending larger for the litter. He may be a little timid to start, but once given the chance to adjust on his own, he quickly becomes bubbly, happy, eager, and engaging.
- Health Notes: N/A

Palmer Green

- Energy Level: Mid to Moderate
- Personality: Palmer Green is very personable and engaging. He would rather be with people than not, and though he may need a little time to adjust in new situations, he does so well and independently. He is very gentle with handling and thrives on connection.
