Winter Litter Temperament Overview:

The Winter litter is a well-balanced group of puppies with mid-level energy. They are confident and self-assured, showing little to no stress in new situations, whether around people or in environments typically considered stressful. Each puppy reacts appropriately to new sights and sounds, including those that might be considered startling, and they are naturally curious and investigative. Their focus, memory, and problem-solving abilities are right on track for their age and stage of development.

These puppies show strong motivation for interaction and good motivation for food and toys, making them eager learners. Socially, they are appropriate in their interactions with people, other dogs, and even cats. They rarely use their mouths to initiate play, and when they do, they demonstrate excellent bite inhibition. They are also rarely vocal, with no red flags or signs of possessiveness. All are comfortable and tolerant of handling and restraint. Overall, this litter is personable, engaging, and adaptable, making them an excellent fit for most any home environment.
