Ingrid Litter Temperament Overview:

The Ingrid litter is confident and self-assured, showing little to no stress in new situations, around new people, or in circumstances typically considered stressful. These puppies react appropriately to new sights and sounds and remain curious and investigative, even with stimuli that could be considered startling.

They demonstrate good memory, focus, and problem-solving abilities appropriate for their age and stage of development. The litter shows strong motivation for food, interaction, and toys, displaying excellent balance in drives. Socially, they are appropriate and well-mannered in their interactions with one another, with cats, and with other dogs. While they may use their mouths during play, they have very good bite inhibition and are rarely vocal.

All puppies are comfortable and tolerant of handling and restraint. Overall, this litter is very consistent, with only subtle differences between individuals. They are affectionate, sweet, playful, and happy, making them wonderful companions and excellent candidates for family or therapy environments.
