Eden Litter Temperament Overview:

The Eden litter is a happy, affectionate, and confident group of puppies that transitions easily into new environments. They show no stress when meeting new people or encountering unfamiliar sights and sounds, and their curiosity drives them to explore and engage with enthusiasm. Each puppy demonstrates above-average memory, focus, and problem-solving skills for their age, along with excellent motivation for interaction, food, and toys.

These puppies are well-socialized and interact appropriately with people, other dogs, and even cats. They may use their mouths during play but have excellent bite inhibition and are easily redirected. They remain calm during handling, are rarely vocal, and thrive on affection and attention. Overall, this litter is loving, playful, and people-oriented—perfect for families who want a joyful, interactive companion. Several show wonderful potential for emotional support or therapy work due to their gentle and people-centered temperaments.
