Lizzy Litter Temperament Overview:

The Lizzy litter is confident and self-assured overall. They show little to no stress in new situations, whether around people or in environments typically considered stressful. These puppies react appropriately to new sights and sounds, displaying curiosity and investigation. Their motivation for food is very good, and they also show strong motivation for interaction and toys. Their memory, focus, and problem-solving abilities are average to above average for their age and stage of development.

Socially, these puppies are appropriate in their interactions with one another, with cats, and with other dogs. They are also socially appropriate and affectionate in their interactions with people. They rarely use their mouths to initiate or engage in play and demonstrate excellent bite inhibition when they do. They are rarely vocal, show no red flags, and display no possessiveness. All are comfortable and tolerant of handling and restraint, with most actively seeking out attention and affection.

Overall, the Lizzy litter is balanced, social, and sweet. While still slightly immature and with their teeth not yet fully in, they show wonderful potential for growth and development. Their gentle confidence and happy personalities make them an especially lovable and well-rounded group.
