Dali Litter Temperament Overview:

The Dali litter overall is confident and self-assured. These puppies are very personable and engaging. They show little to no stress in new situations, around new people, or in circumstances typically considered stressful. These puppies are curious and investigative with new sights and sounds, including those that should be considered startling. Overall, these puppies have very good memory, focus, and problem-solving abilities above average for their stage of development. They have excellent motivation for interaction and good motivation for food and toys. These puppies are socially appropriate in their interactions with one another, with cats, and with dogs. They are also socially appropriate in their interactions with people. They do use their mouth somewhat to initiate or engage in play, but they have very good bite inhibition. They are rarely vocal. They have no red flags and show no possessiveness. They are all comfortable and tolerant of handling and restraint. This litter is very consistent. They are pretty easy-going and tolerant of most anything. Almost any puppy in this litter has very good potential for therapy work.
