Date of Birth: 3/18/202

Merlot Litter Temperament Overview:

The Merlot litter is a confident, well-balanced, and socially appropriate group with moderate energy levels and very consistent temperaments overall. While a few puppies may take a brief moment to adjust to new environments, they recover quickly and go on to show curious, investigative behavior with new sights and sounds. This litter demonstrates strong motivation for interaction, food, and toys, along with solid focus and problem-solving skills appropriate for their age.

Socially, they interact very appropriately with one another as well as with people and other animals. They are generally tolerant of handling, though some can be a bit wiggly or slightly more independent. The litter can become a bit mouthy when excited, but bite inhibition is very good and there are no red flags or concerning behaviors. Overall, these puppies are sweet, playful, and eager companions with slight individual differences, but all share a steady, adaptable nature that will transition well into a variety of home environments.

Merlot Pink

- Energy Level: Mid to Moderate
- Personality: Pink is a more thoughtful and slightly reserved puppy initially, who may take a moment to settle into new environments, but adjusts nicely and becomes a calm, easygoing companion. She carries a naturally balanced temperament with a mild, independent streak and does not rely heavily on constant attention.

While she is not overly driven by interaction, she still engages appropriately and enjoys connection in a relaxed, low-pressure way. She is tolerant with handling, though can be a bit wiggly at times, and overall presents as a very even-keeled, steady puppy. Pink is a sweet, low-maintenance companion who will do well in most home environments, especially those that appreciate a more easygoing and independent personality.

Merlot Red

POTENTIAL THERAPY / ESA CANDIDATE

- Energy Level: Mid Level
- Personality: Red is a very people-oriented and engaging puppy who forms strong connections and actively seeks interaction. While she may show some uncertainty in new environments initially, she adjusts quickly and becomes very affectionate, playful, and connected once comfortable. She has a strong desire for attention and engagement, often working to maintain interaction and stay close to her person.

She can be slightly wiggly with handling due to excitement, but remains tolerant overall. Red is incredibly people-focused and intuitive, naturally striving to build strong bonds and stay connected. Based on her engagement, responsiveness, and desire for interaction, she shows nice early potential for therapy or emotional support work and will thrive in a home that provides consistent engagement and connection.
