

Lemon Girls Temperament Assessment

Lemon Girls Play Video

Date of Birth: 4/11/2026

Lemon Litter Temperament Overview:

The Lemon litter is a sweet, affectionate, and highly companionship-driven group that reflects a beautiful blend of both parents. These puppies tend to take a brief moment to adjust in new environments, but once comfortable, they settle into very personable, easygoing, and engaging companions. They are strongly motivated by human interaction and genuinely enjoy being close to their people, often preferring connection and presence over independence.

This litter is expressive and communicative, occasionally vocalizing as part of normal puppy behavior when seeking attention or engagement. This is very typical for their developmental stage and they respond well to guidance and redirection. They are also physically larger, clumsy, and very much in that “big puppy” phase, adding to their playful and endearing nature.

Energy levels are consistently mid level across the litter, with potential to rise slightly as confidence continues to build. Overall, this is a very easygoing, affectionate, and people-oriented litter that will thrive in homes looking for a connected and engaging companion.

Lemon Red

- Energy Level: Mid Level
- Personality: Lemon Red closely mirrors the temperament of Lemon Green, offering a balanced, easygoing, and slightly more independent personality. She enjoys interaction and connection but does not demand constant attention, making her a very adaptable and low-pressure companion. She is sweet, steady, and tolerant, with a calm approach to both people and her environment. Her mid level energy keeps her engaged without being overwhelming, and she is very easy to live with overall. She will thrive in a variety of homes looking for a gentle and well-balanced puppy.
- Health Notes: N/A

Lemon White

- Energy Level: Mid Level
- Personality: Lemon White is very similar in temperament to Lemon Blue, showing a strong preference for companionship and interaction. She enjoys being close to her people and is happiest when engaged or simply spending time alongside you. She is affectionate, personable, and connection-driven, with a natural desire to stay involved. Like her sibling, she may express herself vocally when seeking attention, which is developmentally normal and responds well to guidance. Her mid level energy allows her to be playful and engaging while still remaining manageable and easygoing. She will do best in a home that values closeness and consistent interaction.
- Health Notes: N/A

