Helena Litter Temperament Overview:

The Helena litter is a very sweet, gentle, and personable group with steady mid-level energy. These puppies may need a little time to settle into new environments, but once comfortable, they become engaging, affectionate, playful, and social. They are naturally focused and show a calm, thoughtful approach to new experiences. Although some were tense during evaluation, they remained tolerant and respectful throughout handling. Their confidence and energy may continue to grow as they mature and become more secure. Overall, this litter will do best in calmer, supportive homes that allow them time to adjust and build trust before expecting their full personalities to shine.
