Hollie Litter Temperament Overview:

The Hollie litter is an exceptionally easygoing, gentle, and respectful group of puppies that reflects the sweet, engaging personalities of both parents. These puppies are affectionate, tolerant, and very relaxed with handling, making them enjoyable companions from an early age. While they may need a brief moment to settle into a new environment, they quickly become playful, engaging, and comfortable once they have adjusted. Their personalities are balanced with a fun, silly side that emerges in little bursts of playfulness, and this is expected to become even more apparent as they mature. Most of the litter displays true mid-level energy, with a few puppies building toward mid to moderate during interaction and excitement. Overall, this is a highly adaptable litter that should transition beautifully into a variety of homes, with several puppies showing very nice early potential for service, therapy, or alert work due to their confidence, engagement, and strong people focus.
