Torrance x Voodoo — Parent Overview

Torrance is an incredibly engaging, affectionate, self-assured, and outgoing girl. She is the prototype of what we look for in a service or therapy dog, which is why so many of her puppies from previous litters have gone on to become service and therapy dogs in classrooms, hospitals, and for individuals. Torrance naturally seeks connection with people and possesses the confidence, steadiness, and intuitive nature that make her truly exceptional.

Together, Torrance and Voodoo are expected to produce puppies that closely reflect the outstanding temperaments of their parents. We anticipate sweet, affectionate, outgoing, and highly engaging puppies with exceptional people-oriented motivation. This litter should have excellent potential for service and therapy work, making them especially well suited for homes seeking a puppy with the temperament, intelligence, and desire to excel in a working role while also serving as a devoted companion.
