Alissa Litter Temperament Overview:

Alissa and Rembrandt are a beautiful pairing of affectionate, people-focused, balanced temperaments. Alissa is an especially sweet and gentle girl who is calm, cuddly, and deeply affectionate. She enjoys play like any dog, but close connection and physical affection are where she is happiest. Rembrandt brings many of those same qualities with a little more of that classic goofy, bubbly Poodle personality—outgoing and playful while still settling beautifully for close interaction and handling.

Their puppies are developing into a balanced, social, confident, curious, and very personable group. Overall, they are easygoing puppies with a lovely combination of affection, engagement, and independence. Several simply benefit from a little time to take in something unfamiliar before their full personality comes forward, and we expect confidence and engagement to continue strengthening naturally with maturity and positive experiences.

Energy is a consistent mid level overall, lending itself nicely to everyday family life. They have plenty of room for play, interaction, and adventures while still having the balanced demeanor expected to fit comfortably into a wide variety of lifestyles—particularly homes with a somewhat calmer, more predictable everyday environment.

Alissa Blue

- Energy Level: Mid — Playful & Engaging

- Personality:

Alissa Blue is a curious, social, engaging, and sweet boy with a nicely balanced overall temperament. He is excited by attention and interaction and has a personable side that comes forward more and more as he becomes comfortable with his surroundings.

Blue has a balanced level of independence, allowing him to enjoy connection with his people while also being comfortable without needing constant attention. He showed good human engagement, with even more expected to emerge as his confidence continues to mature. During handling, he carried some initial tension but remained tolerant and receptive throughout.

His energy sits at a balanced mid level, giving him plenty of room for play, interaction, and everyday adventures without presenting as an overly energetic puppy. As his confidence grows, we expect a little more of his playful energy and outgoing personality to come forward as well.

Blue will do especially well in a calmer, more predictable home environment that gives him a moment to acclimate when something is completely unfamiliar. He does not need to be rushed into new experiences; with positive exposure and continued socialization, his curiosity, sociability, engagement, and personable nature should continue to blossom beautifully.

- Physical Evaluation:

No health concerns noted.

Alissa Green

- Energy Level: Mid — Playful & Engaging

- Personality:

Alissa Green is a curious, social, engaging, and personable boy with a nicely balanced temperament. He enjoys attention and showed an excited, interactive side during his broader evaluation, giving us a great glimpse of the personality that should continue coming forward as his confidence matures.

Green has a balanced level of independence, allowing him to enjoy his people while also being comfortable without needing constant attention. He showed good human engagement, with even stronger connection expected as he becomes increasingly confident in unfamiliar situations.

During handling, Green carried some initial tension but remained tolerant and receptive. He benefits from having time to understand something completely new rather than being rushed, and once comfortable, his sweet, social, curious, and engaging nature becomes much more representative of who he is.

His energy is a balanced mid level, with some additional animation and playfulness expected to emerge alongside his confidence. Green will do especially well in a calmer, more predictable home environment that gives him a moment to acclimate to unfamiliar experiences while still providing plenty of opportunities for play, interaction, socialization, and connection.

- Physical Evaluation:

No health concerns noted.

Alissa Orange

- Energy Level: Mid — Balanced with a Playful Rise

- Personality:

Alissa Orange is a sweet, gentle, tolerant, and well-balanced boy with a personable nature that becomes increasingly apparent once he is comfortable. He can be a little unsure when first introduced to something unfamiliar, but importantly, he adjusts rather than remaining uncertain.

Orange has a balanced level of independence, allowing him to enjoy his people while also being comfortable without constant attention. His early human engagement was good and is expected to strengthen as his confidence continues to mature. During handling, he carried some initial tension but remained tolerant and receptive throughout.

His baseline energy is mid level, with the expectation that some additional playfulness and animation will emerge alongside his confidence. This gives him a nice foundation for everyday family life—enough energy to enjoy play, activities, and interaction while maintaining a balanced overall presentation.

Orange will do especially well in a calmer, more predictable home environment where he can take a moment to become comfortable with unfamiliar situations. With continued positive experiences and socialization, we expect his sweetness, balance, engagement, and personable side to continue becoming even more evident.

- Physical Evaluation:

No health concerns noted.

- Energy Level: Mid — Balanced

- Personality:

Alissa Blue Dot is a sweet, gentle, tolerant, and beautifully balanced boy with a soft, personable nature. His temperament is easy to appreciate—he is respectful and receptive, with a lovely foundation for everyday companionship.

Blue Dot has a balanced level of independence, giving him a nice middle ground between enjoying connection with his people and being comfortable without constant attention. His human engagement is good and expected to strengthen naturally as his confidence continues to develop.

When something is unfamiliar, Blue Dot appreciates having a little time to understand the situation first. He carried some initial tension during handling but remained tolerant and receptive, showing that he can work through that uncertainty rather than becoming overwhelmed. Continued positive experiences should help him become increasingly comfortable and expressive as he matures.

His energy is a mid level, with the possibility of becoming slightly more animated as his confidence grows. He will do especially well in a calmer, predictable home environment that allows him to acclimate naturally to new experiences. His sweetness, gentleness, tolerance, balance, and developing engagement make him a lovely companion with a wonderful foundation to continue building upon.

- Physical Evaluation:

No health concerns noted.

Alissa Green Dot

- Energy Level: Mid — Consistent & Balanced

- Personality:

Alissa Green Dot is a curious, social, engaging, and sweet boy with a balanced temperament and a natural interest in his people. He was excited for attention during his broader evaluation and has a personable quality that comes forward nicely once he has had a moment to understand his surroundings.

Green Dot is confident without being pushy. He may appreciate a brief second to orient himself when something is brand new, but he adjusts and becomes increasingly comfortable rather than remaining unsure. He naturally leans toward his people, showed good human engagement, and was nicely tolerant during handling.

His energy is a textbook mid level, giving him a wonderful balance for everyday life. He has plenty of room for play, interaction, learning, and family activities while maintaining a manageable baseline that should fit comfortably into many lifestyles.

Green Dot will do especially well in a calmer, predictable home environment that complements his balanced nature and gives him a brief moment to acclimate to unfamiliar experiences. His confidence, sociability, engagement, tolerance, sweetness, and balanced energy give him a lovely overall foundation.

Green Dot is also currently trending smaller, so his growth should continue to be monitored and his timeline may need to be adjusted accordingly.

- Physical Evaluation:

No health concerns noted.

Alissa Orange Dot

- Energy Level: Mid — Balanced with a Playful Rise

- Personality:

Alissa Orange Dot is a sweet, gentle, tolerant, and well-balanced boy with a soft, personable nature. He has a lovely underlying temperament and simply benefits from having a little time to become comfortable when an experience or environment is completely unfamiliar.

Orange Dot has a balanced level of independence, giving him a nice ability to enjoy human connection without needing constant attention. His early human engagement was good and is expected to continue strengthening naturally alongside his confidence.

During handling, Orange Dot carried some initial tension but remained tolerant and receptive, which is an important distinction. He may need time to settle into something new, but he is able to process the experience and become more comfortable rather than being defined by that initial uncertainty.

His baseline energy is mid level, with some additional playfulness and animation expected to emerge as his confidence grows. Orange Dot will do especially well in a calmer, more predictable home environment that allows him to acclimate naturally to new experiences. His sweetness, gentleness, tolerance, balance, and developing engagement give him a wonderful foundation for companionship.

- Physical Evaluation:

No health concerns noted.

Alissa x Rembrandt — Parent Overview

Alissa is a truly sweet and gentle girl. She is calm, cuddly, and deeply affectionate, finding her greatest joy in close connection and physical affection. While she enjoys playful moments like any dog, she is most content when she is snuggled up and receiving attention. She is motivated by food and play but consistently chooses interaction above all else, doing so in a respectful and non-pushy way that speaks to her excellent social awareness.

Breed: F1 Goldendoodle

Weight: 58lbs

Rembrandt shares many of these wonderful qualities. He is outgoing, balanced, and highly engaged, with the classic goofy, bubbly personality often seen in male poodles. Despite his playful charm, he settles beautifully for handling and shows a calm, cooperative nature when interacting closely with people.

Breed: Standard Poodle

Weight: 58lbs

Together, this pairing is expected to produce puppies that are affectionate, confident, and exceptionally people-focused. We anticipate a litter of big, snuggly “teddy bear” puppies with well-balanced, respectful temperaments. These babies should be more motivated by interaction than by food or toys, with energy levels falling right between mid and mid-moderate. Overall, this litter should transition seamlessly into nearly any home environment and make wonderful companions.
