

Alissa Girls Temperament Assessment

Date of Birth: 8/28/2026

Alissa Litter Temperament Overview:

Alissa and Rembrandt are a beautiful pairing of affectionate, people-focused, balanced temperaments. Alissa is an especially sweet and gentle girl who is calm, cuddly, and deeply affectionate. She enjoys play like any dog, but close connection and physical affection are where she is happiest. Rembrandt brings many of those same qualities with a little more of that classic goofy, bubbly Poodle personality—outgoing and playful while still settling beautifully for close interaction and handling.

Their puppies are developing into a balanced, social, confident, curious, and very personable group. Overall, they are easygoing puppies with a lovely combination of affection, engagement, and independence. Several simply benefit from a little time to take in something unfamiliar before their full personality comes forward, and we expect confidence and engagement to continue strengthening naturally with maturity and positive experiences.

Energy is a consistent mid level overall, lending itself nicely to everyday family life. They have plenty of room for play, interaction, and adventures while still having the balanced demeanor expected to fit comfortably into a wide variety of lifestyles—particularly homes with a somewhat calmer, more predictable everyday environment.

Alissa Pink

- Energy Level: Mid — Balanced with a Playful Rise

- Personality:

Alissa Pink is a sweet, gentle, tolerant, and beautifully balanced girl with a soft, personable nature. She benefits from having a little time to become fully comfortable in an unfamiliar setting, but there is a lovely, easygoing puppy underneath that initial processing period.

Pink has a balanced level of independence, allowing her to enjoy connection with her people while also being comfortable without needing constant attention. Her early human engagement was good and is expected to strengthen naturally as her confidence continues to develop. During handling, she carried some initial tension but remained tolerant and receptive throughout.

Her baseline energy is mid level, with the expectation that a little more playfulness and animation will emerge alongside her confidence. She has a nicely manageable temperament for everyday life, with room for play, interaction, and family activities without presenting as an overly energetic puppy.

Pink will do especially well in a calmer, more predictable home environment that allows her to acclimate naturally to unfamiliar situations. With continued positive experiences and socialization, we expect her sweetness, gentleness, balance, engagement, and personable side to continue becoming even more apparent.

- Physical Evaluation:

No health concerns noted.

Alissa Red

- Energy Level: Mid — Consistent & Balanced

- Personality:

Alissa Red is a sweet, gentle, tolerant, and beautifully balanced girl with a naturally engaging and personable temperament. She may take a brief moment to orient herself when something is completely unfamiliar, but she adjusts and becomes increasingly comfortable once she understands her surroundings.

Red is confident without being pushy and naturally leans toward her people. She showed good human engagement and nice tolerance with handling, making her receptive to connection and interaction while maintaining a respectful social style.

Her energy is a textbook mid level, giving her a lovely balance for everyday life. She has plenty of room for play, activities, learning, and companionship without needing an especially active lifestyle to feel fulfilled.

Red will do especially well in a calmer, more predictable home environment that complements her gentle nature and gives her a moment to acclimate to unfamiliar experiences. Her sweetness, engagement, tolerance, balanced energy, and developing confidence give her a wonderful foundation for family companionship.

- Physical Evaluation:

No health concerns noted.

Alissa White

- Energy Level: Mid — Consistent & Balanced

- Personality:

Alissa White is a curious, social, engaging, and sweet girl with a nicely balanced temperament and a natural interest in her people. She was excited for attention during her broader evaluation and has a personable side that comes forward nicely once she has had a moment to understand her surroundings.

White is confident without being pushy and naturally leans toward her people. She showed good human engagement and nice handling tolerance, remaining receptive while interacting with those around her. She may appreciate a brief moment to orient herself when something is completely unfamiliar, but she adjusts and becomes increasingly comfortable.

Her energy is a textbook mid level, giving her a wonderful balance for everyday family life. She has plenty of room for play, interaction, learning, and adventures while maintaining a manageable baseline. Her curious and social nature adds a little sparkle without pushing her into a higher-energy temperament.

White will do especially well in a calmer, predictable home environment that gives her a moment to acclimate naturally to unfamiliar experiences. Her curiosity, sociability, engagement, sweetness, tolerance, and balanced energy make her a lovely companion, with continued positive experiences expected to bring even more of her confidence and personality forward.

- Physical Evaluation:

No health concerns noted.

Alissa Pink Dot

- Energy Level: Mid — Consistent & Balanced

- Personality:

Alissa Pink Dot is a sweet, gentle, tolerant, and well-balanced girl with an engaging, people-oriented side. She may appreciate a brief moment to understand something completely unfamiliar, but she adjusts and becomes increasingly comfortable rather than remaining unsure.

Pink Dot is confident without being pushy and naturally leans slightly toward her people. She showed good human engagement and nice handling tolerance, giving her a lovely combination of connection and receptiveness. Her confidence still has room to strengthen with maturity, but she already has a very nice underlying foundation.

Her energy is a textbook mid level, giving her a wonderful balance for everyday family life. She can enjoy play, interaction, learning, and activities with her people while maintaining a manageable and consistent baseline.

Pink Dot will do especially well in a calmer, predictable home environment that gives her a brief moment to acclimate when something is brand new. Her sweetness, gentleness, engagement, tolerance, and balanced energy make her a lovely companion, with continued positive experiences expected to bring even more of her confidence forward.

- Physical Evaluation:

No health concerns noted.

Alissa x Rembrandt — Parent Overview

Alissa is a truly sweet and gentle girl. She is calm, cuddly, and deeply affectionate, finding her greatest joy in close connection and physical affection. While she enjoys playful moments like any dog, she is most content when she is snuggled up and receiving attention. She is motivated by food and play but consistently chooses interaction above all else, doing so in a respectful and non-pushy way that speaks to her excellent social awareness.

Breed: F1 Goldendoodle

Weight: 58lbs

Rembrandt shares many of these wonderful qualities. He is outgoing, balanced, and highly engaged, with the classic goofy, bubbly personality often seen in male poodles. Despite his playful charm, he settles beautifully for handling and shows a calm, cooperative nature when interacting closely with people.

Breed: Standard Poodle

Weight: 58lbs

Together, this pairing is expected to produce puppies that are affectionate, confident, and exceptionally people-focused. We anticipate a litter of big, snuggly “teddy bear” puppies with well-balanced, respectful temperaments. These babies should be more motivated by interaction than by food or toys, with energy levels falling right between mid and mid-moderate. Overall, this litter should transition seamlessly into nearly any home environment and make wonderful companions.
