Armani Litter Temperament Overview:

The Armani litter is an incredibly affectionate, gentle, personable, and people-focused group with the beautiful companion qualities we expected from Armani and Cosmo. These puppies genuinely value human connection and consistently work to gain and maintain interaction with their people, creating a litter that is naturally engaging, relationship-driven, and eager to be involved. Across the individual evaluations, strong human engagement and handling tolerance were especially consistent qualities.

As a litter, they may benefit from a brief opportunity to take in something unfamiliar before fully settling in, with that adjustment presenting a little differently from puppy to puppy. Some move through that initial moment very quickly, while others benefit from a little more patience and continued confidence-building. Once comfortable, we consistently see gentle, affectionate, respectful, personable, and engaging puppies who strongly enjoy connection with their people.

Energy is remarkably consistent at a true mid level throughout the litter, giving these puppies a wonderful balance of interaction, companionship, and everyday manageability. Some naturally show more ability to calm through interaction, while others maintain that steady mid-level presentation. Individual matching will be important, but overall these puppies are best suited to families who want a dog that will be engaged, involved, and closely connected to their everyday life.

There is also wonderful service and therapy potential throughout this litter. Their evaluations consistently show many of the foundational qualities we look for in continued working development, including strong people orientation, human engagement, affection, handling tolerance, and a desire for connection. Individual confidence, energy, and regulation will continue to help determine which working direction is most appropriate for each puppy as they mature, making thoughtful individual matching especially important.

Overall, this is a sweet, affectionate, gentle, highly people-centered, and versatile litter that beautifully reflects Armani and Cosmo. In addition to their temperament qualities, these puppies are DNA clear and genetically non-shedding, with colors expected to intensify as they mature. Their individual personalities give us the opportunity to thoughtfully match each puppy based on a family's lifestyle and needs while preserving the wonderful engagement, affection, and companionship that runs throughout the entire litter.
