Delilah Litter Temperament Overview:

Delilah and Benedict are an especially personable, affectionate, and engaging pairing. Delilah is bubbly, happy, and extremely people-oriented. She works hard for attention and connection, but what is especially nice about her temperament is how beautifully she settles once she has that connection. Benedict brings many of those same qualities with an even broader range—he is sweet, affectionate, playful, cuddly, and wonderfully enthusiastic about whatever he is doing. He truly embodies a "work hard, play hard" personality.

Their puppies are a social, waggy, happy, focused, and people-oriented group. They can be a little unsure when first introduced to something completely unfamiliar, but they adjust quickly and become noticeably more comfortable, connected, and engaged. Across the litter, they are also gentle and respectful with handling, with very nice tolerance and an obvious natural interest in people.

Energy is remarkably consistent throughout the litter at a textbook mid level. Like their parents, they may become more animated through interaction and attention, but they maintain a nicely balanced overall presentation. They should do especially well in homes that are engaging and involved while still giving them an appropriate moment to acclimate when something is brand new.

This pairing was expected to produce puppies with promising working qualities, and the individual evaluations support that expectation. Each puppy showed great early potential for Service and/or Therapy work, with strong human engagement, excellent handling tolerance, balanced confidence, and a natural people orientation. These are very promising foundations to continue developing as they mature.

Delilah x Benedict — Parent Overview

Delilah is a bubbly, happy, and incredibly personable girl. She is exceptionally engaging and works hard to earn your attention, but what makes her especially wonderful is how dramatically she settles once she has it. Delilah thrives on connection and is happiest when she can be involved with and close to her people.

Breed: F1B Schnoodle
Weight: 16.8lbs

Benedict has a very similar disposition, just with an even broader range. He is sweet, affectionate, and incredibly engaging, putting his whole heart into everything he does. He runs hard, plays hard, and cuddles just as enthusiastically. If "work hard, play hard" were ever embodied by a dog, that dog would be Benedict.

Breed: F1B Goldendoodle
Weight: 18lbs

Together, Delilah and Benedict are expected to produce puppies that are every bit as engaging, bubbly, and personable as their parents. We anticipate puppies with strong people focus and mid-level energy that naturally rises in pursuit of interaction before settling beautifully once they receive it. With their affectionate nature, engagement, and ability to transition between enthusiasm and composure, this litter should produce excellent service and therapy candidates as well as deeply connected companions.
