

"Tofu" Edith Blue Temperament Assessment

Date of Birth: June 6th, 2026

Purebred English Retriever | Rare Low-Shed Genetics

Litter Temperament Overview:

Edith and Tundra are two big-personality, affectionate, happy Retrievers, and their puppies carry so many of those same lovable qualities. Edith is sweet, affectionate, and wonderfully expressive—she “feels big feelings” and has never been shy about sharing them. Tundra brings that classic goofy male Retriever personality: big, floppy, funny, affectionate, playful, and completely unaware of his own size.

Their puppies are a confident, social, curious, happy, and playful group with that same wonderful enthusiasm for people and life. They are expressive babies who are not afraid to let you know when they would like your attention, but once they have it, they are incredibly affectionate, sweet, and connected.

Overall, expect balanced mid-level energy, with some individual puppies falling a little lower or higher within that range. They enjoy play and interaction but also settle nicely for handling, giving them a wonderful combination of that fun, silly Retriever personality and an affectionate, easy-to-love side.

These puppies are exactly what makes the Retriever personality so special—goofy, loving, social, expressive, playful, and incredibly people oriented, with each puppy bringing their own version of that personality to the litter.

- Energy Level: Low to Mid — Relaxed & Easygoing

- Personality:

Tofu is an incredibly sweet, affectionate, gentle, and confident boy with a wonderfully relaxed disposition. While the Edith litter as a whole is social, playful, and full of that classic happy Retriever personality, Tofu landed on the especially easygoing end of the litter. He is confident without being pushy, curious and social, but naturally quite content to take life at an easier pace.

He has a lovely people-oriented nature and is very engaging with his humans. Affection is definitely one of his favorite things—Tofu absolutely loved being handled during his evaluation and was exceptionally tolerant and relaxed with touch. He can also be a little chatty when he wants your attention, which fits right into the expressive, personality-filled nature of this Retriever litter. Once he has that connection, he is incredibly affectionate and gentle.

His low-to-mid energy is one of his standout qualities. Tofu was relaxed during handling and notably laid-back throughout his evaluation. He still has the happy, playful, social qualities expected from his parents and litter, but his natural baseline is much more easygoing.

Tofu also showed great early potential for service and therapy development. His confidence, strong human engagement, slight people focus, exceptional handling tolerance, affectionate nature, and naturally calmer energy give him a very promising foundation. His 16-Week S.U.P.E.R. Puppy Program will provide an extensive head start in building on these qualities through continued training, socialization, structure, confidence-building, and foundational skills.

Tofu will be especially well suited to a calmer, easygoing home environment that complements his naturally relaxed personality. He brings together so many wonderful Retriever qualities—sweetness, affection, confidence, connection, gentleness, and that lovable touch of goofy personality—in one exceptionally easygoing boy.

- Physical Evaluation:

No health concerns noted.

Edith x Tundra — Parent Overview

Edith is a sweet, affectionate, and wonderfully boisterous girl with a personality that is truly larger than life. Our staff often jokes that Edith "feels big feelings," and she certainly isn't shy about expressing them. She is full of personality in ways you wouldn't even think possible for a dog, bringing enthusiasm, affection, and plenty of entertainment to every interaction. Edith approaches life with her whole heart and makes sure everyone around her knows exactly how she feels.

Breed: Purebred English Retriever

Weight: 74lbs

Tundra is the perfect example of that classic, lovable male Retriever personality. He is big, floppy, goofy, funny, and incredibly affectionate, with absolutely no idea just how large he really is. Tundra plays with the enthusiasm and passion of a much smaller dog, throwing himself into every interaction with a wonderfully carefree spirit. His silly antics and sweet nature make him an incredibly endearing boy who is impossible not to love.

Breed: Purebred English Retriever

Weight: 66lbs

Together, Edith and Tundra are expected to produce Retrievers that share their parents' incredible passion for life. We anticipate goofy, funny, silly, affectionate, and exceptionally sweet puppies with personalities that are nearly impossible to resist. These puppies should approach life with enthusiasm and a genuine love for their people, bringing plenty of laughter and affection into their homes. With mid to moderate energy levels that settle nicely for handling, this litter should produce wonderfully engaging companions that are equally happy enjoying playtime and soaking up affection from their families.
